

Character in the Hat.
"Does the hat reveal character?" said an observant person whose specialty is character reading. "Of course it does. The man whose hat fits him exactly and is set square and straight on his head is nearly always an orderly, deliberate man, regular in his habits, but very often commonplace as regards mental attainments."

"Men of large mental powers, thinkers and philosophers, affect hats a trifle too large for them. They are men of large ideas, and their big hats will often be found in conjunction with loose, easy fitting clothes, for in this, as in other matters, the body reflects the mind."

"I distrust equally the man who wears his hat at the back of his head and who habitually goes about with it tilted to one side. The first is of a candid, easy going type, but apt to be flighty; the latter, with a disposition for sport and frolic, is at the same time often frivolous and conceited. Neither of them, however, will be a coxcomb, like the man whose hat is too small for him, nor 'deep' and crafty, like the wearer of a hat which is always pulled down over the eyes."

Danger in Poisons.
It is lamentable that neither repeated warning nor sad experience seems to have the desired effect of making the ordinary person cautious in the use of poisons. In the last few days three children have died presumably from taking poison that was carelessly left within their reach. One would suppose that such accidents would by this time have become almost impossible, yet they are constantly recurring with a frequency that demands further warning. If parents would learn to keep poisons in a place where they could not be reached by others there would be fewer accidents.

It is the old principle of familiarity breeding contempt. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon every one that the only immunity from danger is through constant care and precaution. It is a lesson that needs to be impressed upon every individual without exception.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Old English Superstition.
Attention has been called to the survival of folklore in rural parts of England by evidence given in a stabbing case tried at the Essex assizes. To quicken the healing of the wounds, the knife with which they were inflicted was smeared with grease and laid on the bed of the patient. The purpose served by the application of grease or oil to the knife or to any steel instrument that has inflicted wounds is to prevent it from rusting, for if the steel is allowed to become rusty the wound is supposed to be affected and festering and mortification follow the progress of the rust. Another quaint belief is that the application of an oil of knife is a certain and quick remedy for scalds and burns.

Could Believe Some of Them.
An amusing story is told of a New England minister who often speaks in behalf of a certain charity in which he is greatly interested. He has a fine voice and a graphic way of telling incidents both humorous and pathetic, so that his hearers are often "moved to laughter or to tears."

At the close of one meeting, at which he had spoken with great effect, and a large gain for the charity had been the direct result, a little old lady approached the minister.

"Oh," she said earnestly, "I've been so interested in hearing about those poor, dear children! And I suppose a great many of those stories you told are really true, aren't they?"—Youth's Companion.

Luxury.
Alice—Uncle Gabe, what would you do if you had a million dollars?
Uncle Gabe—Well, I don't rightly know, I'm missy; but if I had a million dollars I believe I'd give my old man half sold.—Puck.

The Easy Part.
Teacher—After all the trouble I have taken, you are most important in your lesson. Surely, you could not have found it so hard to learn!
Pupil—It wasn't because it was so hard to learn, teacher, but because it was so easy to forget!

Amused Them.
Artist—Have you taken my picture to the exhibition?
Porter—Yes, sir. It seemed to please the gentlemen very much.
Artist—What did they say?
Porter—Oh, they didn't say anything. They only laughed.

Poetry.
Poetry is not made out of the understanding. The question of common sense is always, "What is it good for?" It is a question which would abolish the rose and be triumphantly answered by the cabbage.—Lowell.

One Quality Frequently Lacking.
"Do you believe that egotism and genius go together?"
"Not always. There would be a lot more genius if they did."—Chicago Record-Herald.

To Get Rid of a Troublesome Corn.
First soak it in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing the blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

Two million Americans suffer the torturing pains of dyspepsia. No need to Burdock Blood Bitters cure. At any drug store.

Unconscious from Cramp.
During a sudden and terrible attack of cramp our little girl was unconscious from strangulation, says A. L. Spafford, postmaster, Chester, Mich., and a dose of One Minute Cough Cure was administered and repeated often. It reduced the swelling and inflammation, cut the mucus and shortly the child was resting easy and speedily recovered. Cough, Croup, Croup, and all throat and lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure lingers in the throat and chest and enables the lungs to breathe freely and health-giving oxygen to the blood. For sale by E. S. Leachester & Sons.

Lungs are the result of a neglected cough or cold. It is a grave mistake to neglect any bronchial affection. You may have incipient consumption before you realize it.

The following are vital questions:
Have you caught a cold?
Have you a severe, racking cough?
Is your throat hoarse and sore?
Do you cough up mucus?
Are you haggard and losing flesh?

These are serious conditions, which, if not promptly corrected, will affect your and in a short time you will be on the road to consumption.

There is a sure cure for a cold and all the above ailments, even incipient consumption, in Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It is known the world over as a famous doctor's prescription that has cured thousands of cases. It is prescribed by physicians because they know it has saved many people from an early grave. Don't delay; use now before too late the celebrated

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

"I caught a bad cold. For about 8 years and this fall especially I was troubled very badly with it, and nothing would give me relief. I coughed up phlegm and continued to do so right along. Finally a friend advised me to try a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. I did not have a mend, and within a short time, when I took the fourth dose, I began to feel better. I was entirely cured by this time, considering the seriousness of my case. I shall never be without a bottle in the house hereafter, marvelous remedy. I shall never be without it as it was the means of saving my life. It is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Thos. Handman, 162 O St., South Boston, Mass.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your lung trouble. It will do it without fail. No other formula ever devised equals it in curative qualities, and for this reason you cannot afford to experiment with other remedies.

AVOID SUBSTITUTES.

They are dangerous to your health. Don't let a druggist palm off his mixture on you for the sake of the larger profit it pays him. Insist on Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup with the Bull's Head on the package. This is the only remedy which will heal your lungs. At all druggists, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.
